

Fun despite the rain at the Wye Valley River Festival

• Creating sunshine prints and decorating the frames using natural materials was one of the activities on offer to young visitors at the River Festival

• Members of the Neighbourhood Plan team were on hand all day to explain to those visiting the Festival just what the Plan involves and answering questions about the Plan. Visitors to the stall were asked to list the aspects of Ross they like, these included the number of independent shops, the community hospital and the friendly community feel of a small market town. They could also list everything they don't like. This information will be processed by the team.

JILL Ireland was one of the visitors to the Hedgehog Festival tent. She created a screen print bag.
Mrs Ireland recently donated a wood burning set to the Hedgehog Festival. Her husband Steve is the Chair of a Wildlife Hospital in Essex.
Yolande Watson and Caroline Utting were kept busy preparing the screen print for people to use.
They also enjoyed meeting people who often had their own hedgehog stories to tell.
